Egypt, Syria Parliaments Hail Merger

Historic New Arab Republic Approved
By Unanimous Vote

CAIRO, Feb. 5 (P)—The parliaments of Egypt and Syria roared approval today for their new United Arab Republic and for a provisional constitution under which Egypt's President Nasser will rule with virtually absolute power as chief of state.

Acceptance of the historic merger was unanimous both in Damascus and Cairo.

Syria's President Shukri Kuwaty, who is giving up his office to serve under Nasser, nominated the Egyptian leader before the Syrian Parliament. Then in Cairo's National Assembly the announcement brought thunderous cheers from the 350 Egyptian deputies.

Nasser Hails Move

Nasser in a 34-minute speech to his Assembly, called the union a sunrise for Arabs. He outlined the 17 points of the provisional constitution. Under it he will rule in the union's period of transition, and, as he read out each point, it became clear he would have immense powers.

The provisional constitution permits Nasser to name his own ministers, appoint deputies to the National Assembly from both Syria and Egypt, and name the executive councils to run the two countries, which now will be called provinces of the United Arab Republic. The union will have a single army and a single flag.

Plebiscite Feb. 21

Technically, Nasser will not become the union's first president until after a plebiscite Feb. 21, but there is no question in anyone's mind here but that he will assume the office. He will be unopposed in the voting.

Thus far the union, proclaimed jointly by Nasser and Kuwaty Saturday in Cairo, involves only Egypt and Syria. The way is open for other Arab nations to join the union or federate with it. A spokesman for Yemen indicated that isolated Arabian Peninsula kingdom agrees in principle to federation, although this suggests no surrender of Yemeni sovereignty.

Rebel Demands Given Sukarno

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (P)—Indonesian rebels have placed before President Sukarno the names of a hand-picked Cabinet which they want appointed in order to shut the door on communism, a Japanese source said today.

The source said the demands were given Sukarno in Tokyo by one of three rebel leaders who slipped into Japan more than a week ago. Sukarno is here on tour.

Earlier one of the rebels had said the insurgents would make no contact with the Indonesian government. Rather, demands would be put to Jakarta by way of the rebel radio, he said.

The rebels have said their demands for a cleanup in the Indonesian government may be answered by a military attack on their strongholds in the republic's outer islands.

The outer islands have been in a state of quiet rebellion over the past year. Basically, they want more self-rule and a bigger cut in revenues from Indonesian resources, most of which come from the outer islands.

Burke "Disappointed"

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 5 (P)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations said today he was "disappointed but far from discouraged" over the Vanguard flight early today.

The Navy's Vanguard missile was destroyed soon after takeoff at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Gov. McKeldin Addresses Legislature

Gov. Theodore McKeldin addresses a joint session of the Maryland Legislature at Annapolis as House Speaker John C. Luber (left) and Sen. Louis Goldstein listen. In presenting his budget yesterday, the governor defended his proposed 50% increase in the income and sales tax rates as "moral and equitable."

McElroy In Charge Of Pentagon Space Work, Ike Declares

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—President Eisenhower, reinforcing Secretary of Defense McElroy's authority in the outer space program, said today McElroy is the boss of all work being done at the Pentagon.

The defense secretary will push ahead with the present missile and satellite projects, Eisenhower told his news conference, while a scientific group works out a broader program of "outer space achievement."

At the same time, Sen. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked the Senate to set up a temporary outer space study group and consider establishing a permanent body similar to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

"Thus far, there is little that we know about outer space—except that it is to dominate the affairs of mankind," Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said.

Eisenhower underlined McElroy's authority when asked whether any consideration was being

Deaf Dog Fitted For Hearing Aid

DALLAS, Feb. 5 (P)—Grubby, a 15-year-old cocker spaniel deafened by a giant firecracker, was fitted for a hearing aid today.

But his owner, Miss Catherine Pierce, said it may be a few weeks before the dog returns to the exciting world of cat noises and symphony music.

A hearing aid firm and an ear mold laboratory tackled the job after hearing of Grubby's plight. The first step was getting a plastic ear mold made. A battery and amplifier resting on the dog's harness will be attached to the mold.

"There's no question about making Grubby hear," said A. W. Culver of the hearing aid firm. "The problem is getting him to leave the unit in his ear, and I think he will get enough pleasure out of hearing to leave it alone."

AFL-CIO Set To Oppose 12 GOP, 2 Demo Senators

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5 (P)—The AFL-CIO said today it probably will oppose the 1958 re-election bids of a dozen Republican and possibly two Democratic members of the U.S. Senate.

Certain organized labor opposition was also forecast for Senate GOP Leader William Knowland's candidacy to become Republican governor in California.

James L. McDevitt, director of the AFL-CIO's political organization—the Committee On Political Education—gave labor union leaders here for winter meetings a state-by-state rundown of the fall election outlook.

He said union members are becoming more and more aware of their fortunes are tied to electing the right people. He said more mergers of previously separated AFL and CIO state and local un-given to bringing the Air Force into the earth satellite project. The Army has launched the first U. S. satellite with a modified Jupiter-C missile and the Navy, after two failures, is still bent on getting one up with a Vanguard rocket.

The President did not reply directly to the question about the Air Force. He merely said McElroy was in charge of all outer space work done within the Defense Department.

A new unit called the Advanced Research Projects Agency is being organized inside the Defense Department. McElroy told newsmen today he is nearly ready to name a director for the ARPA and get it going.

Interviewed after a 40-minute conference with Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, the defense chief also said he feels the United States has made progress in overtaking the Russian lead in the satellite field.

The Senate Rules Committee met late in the day to consider Johnson's proposal for a temporary outer space study group, and Chairman Hennings (D-Mo.) reported a resolution setting up the group was approved. A $50,000 fund to finance it also was okayed. The resolution is expected to get speedy Senate approval.

Paths Of Satellites To Criss-Cross U.S.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 5 (P)—America's first and Russia's second satellites criss-cross the United States tomorrow.

America's moon will be about 660 miles higher—and harder to see—than Sputnik II.

Both satellites cross parts of the United States every day but tomorrow is the first day since Explorer was launched last Friday that Sputnik II will be visible in the twilight.

The Russian moon will be visible to early risers in the South. Explorer is continuing its evening appearance across the Southern United States.

President To Speak On Aid Plan Feb. 25

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—President Eisenhower will make a speech here the night of Feb. 25 in behalf of the administration's proposed four-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

Announcing this today, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President will address the concluding session of a foreign aid conference to be attended by representatives of about 300 national organizations.

The conference has been organized by Eric Johnston, motion picture industry executive recently recruited by Eisenhower to drum up public support for the foreign aid program.

Eisenhower's talk will climax a day-long conference at which former President Truman also is scheduled to speak, probably at a luncheon session.

Negroes Attack Two Monitors At N.Y. Schools

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (P)—One school boy was stabbed today and a second beaten up in a new flare-up of public school violence. The robbery of two other students also was reported.

Both of the assaulted boys were on monitor duty, with authority over other students during a particular phase of school activity. Both victims are white, their assailants Negro.

Frank Sloan, 16, was beaten by three Negro youths in the fourth-floor lunchroom of George Washington High School in Upper Manhattan. He was taken to a hospital with a possible brain concussion.

Police said Sloan directed his assailants to pick up paper they had thrown on the floor and also barred them from the girls' section of the cafeteria. The three, one 16 and the other two 15 years old, then jumped him. The trio were arrested by police.

Victim of the stabbing was Philip Romano, 15, white, on monitor duty at an entrance to Henry Hudson Junior High School. He was supposed to keep students out until the opening class bell.

Police said James Whitney, 14, a Negro, questioned Romano's authority and stabbed him with a letter opener during a scuffle. Romano was reported in satisfactory condition after an operation at Jacobi Hospital.

Whitney was charged with juvenile delinquency and paroled in the custody of his mother.

Principal Harriet Byrne said the stabbing was the first violence at the Bronx School within her memory. She added that it has a reputation of being a quiet school.

In Manhattan, a 6-foot-1 Negro teen-ager was seized by police while entering the High School of Music and Art by a seldom-used rear door. The school draws talented pupils from throughout the city.

The youth, Robert Ashby, 19, was identified by police as the individual who robbed one of the school's white pupils, Jan. 27 and a second one yesterday. He was accused of taking their watches and small amounts of cash while pretending he held a gun in his pocket.

Eisenhower Sees Chance Of Tax Slash

Reserve Weapon
In Case Expected
Upturn Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—President Eisenhower said today a tax cut could be a reserve weapon to give business a shot in the arm. But he gave no indication whatever of recommending a reduction at this time.

Instead, Eisenhower stood by his prediction that business should pick up around the middle of the year.

In a voice hoarse from a cold, the President told a news conference that if things got to the point where it was necessary, a tax cut would have a "very real, great stimulus on the economy." But he cautioned against "going too far with trying to fool with our economy," and getting "something else started."

Inflation Talk Recalled

He put in a reminder of "How we were always talking about inflation" a year ago.

The chief executive didn't comment, nor was he asked to, on the Navy's second failure, early today, to get a Vanguard satellite into orbit. He said that through his science adviser, Dr. James R. Killian Jr., he is getting fine scientists to give the nation "a program of outer space achievement" in the scientific field.

As for the possibility of sending a rocket to the moon and back within 10 years, the President said he, and he thought the scientists, would be the last to predict a definite time schedule.

The "defense space business," he said, will be pushed in the Pentagon.

Summit Talks No Closer

Eisenhower said, too, that "we are working very hard" to see whether there is a possible approach to some kind of heads of state meeting in pursuit of peace. But he said he sees no fact to warrant a conclusion that recent exchanges of letters with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin have advanced prospects of better understanding or increased the likelihood of a fruitful summit conference.

"The Russians, he said, just say 'nyet'—no—to almost all the points he suggests for discussion. There is no use going to a summit conference at which 'you would just be glaring at each other across the table,' the President said.

Freeze Erases Florida Crops

(By The Associated Press)

Temperatures moderated over Florida Wednesday after winter's third freeze nipped nearly all the state's surviving vegetable crops.

Early morning temperatures plunged to 28 degrees in Miami's suburbs. Miamians scraped ice off their auto windshields and water froze solidly in birdbaths.

Citrus escaped damage, except to new foliage growth.

Earlier Florida freezes this season destroyed about 37 million boxes of citrus and damaged other fruit. The flower industry neared total destruction. The season has been the most disastrous ever experienced by vegetable growers.

Rain pelted the Pacific Northwest but subsided over portions of California.

A new influx of Canadian air held afternoon temperature in the teens over the Northern Plains. Some snow fell in the area and along the Rockies into New Mexico. Occasional rain and drizzle sprinkled the Ohio Valley and a broad area from the lower Mississippi Valley eastward into the Carolinas and Mid-Atlantic States.

A slippery mixture of freezing rain, drizzle and snow fell from I-75 over Michigan into parts of West Virginia. Occasional snow "as the rule from the Great Lakes across New York State.

Polish Ship Halted, Searched By French

WARSAW, Feb. 5 (P)—The Polish government said tonight three French warships have stopped and searched a Polish merchant ship off the Atlantic coast of Africa.

It said the Polish ambassador in Paris, Stanislaw Gajewski, had protested to the French government "against this violation of the freedom of the seas."

The Polish ship, the 10,000-ton Wisla, was empty and on normal business, it said.

Kim Makes New Bid To Reunify Divided Korea

LONDON, Feb. 5 (P)—Red North Korea's Premier Kim Il Sung called tonight for withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea and elections that would reunify the divided nation.

Faced by the fact that U.S. divisions now have weapons capable of firing nuclear warheads across the 38th Parallel, Kim bid again to break the East-West stalemate that arose over Korea in the Geneva negotiations of 1954.

"Peace in Korea is facing a grave danger," Kim said in a statement made to his Cabinet and broadcast by Radio Pyongyang. "The U. S. Army commanders as well as (President) Syngman Rhee and other South Korean bellicose elements take no pains to conceal the fact they are making preparations for a new war against the democratic People's Republic of (North) Korea and are openly blaring that they have introduced atomic weapons into South Korea."

The weapons are 280 mm. cannon and Honest John rockets, both of which can deliver either conventional or nuclear explosives. It has not been disclosed whether nuclear warheads are stockpiled in South Korea.

Sixteen United Nations members rejected a bid from Red China for renewed negotiations in May 1956 on the ground the Communists had shown "no evidence of good faith." The U.N. command in Korea junked a provision of the armistice agreement barring introduction of new weapons, saying the Reds had repeatedly violated it.

Korea has been divided since American and Russian forces partitioned the country at the 38th Parallel for military convenience in taking over the country from Japan at the end of World War II.

Nixon's European Trip Still In Planning State

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—An office aide said today Vice President Nixon's proposed trip to Europe later this year is still in a tentative state.

There have been no decisions as to the time or itinerary, the Nixon aide said when asked about a published report that the vice president would visit Moscow on advice of the State Department.

Ike Hints Stassen On Way Out As Disarmament Aide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—President Eisenhower said today he thinks Harold Stassen would make a good governor of Pennsylvania — which could be one way of saying Stassen soon will resign as Eisenhower's disarmament adviser.

Eisenhower, at his news conference, certainly said nothing to dispel reports from administration officials that Stassen will resign.

The President was asked specifically whether Stassen's usefulness to him was at an end. Eisenhower skirted around the question, which was coupled with an inquiry about reaction to Stassen's expressed interest in the Pennsylvania governorship.

"Well, that is a double-barreled question," Eisenhower replied, "but neither barrel is easy to fire." He went on to say that he and WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, acknowledged today he spent about a week in Florida as the guest of a TV station owner who had an application pending before the FCC.

Doerfer quickly added, however, that "when his petition came up I voted against it."

The FCC head told of this and other trips at a House subcommittee hearing increasingly interrupted by three-way bickering among FCC members, the committee and its chief counsel, Bernard L. Schwartz.

In another development, the House group—called the Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight—literally opened its safe and produced some documents to which Schwartz and everybody else had been denied access.

Letters Of Denial

These turned out to be letters from the commissioners denying they had accepted costly gifts or other favors intended to influence their decisions. The committee is investigating charges by its staff that Doerfer and four others on the seven-man FCC have conducted themselves improperly.

Schwartz asserted at one point that Doerfer "is not telling the truth" when the FCC chairman said he always intended to cooperate fully with the investigators.

The committee's chief investigator, Baron Shacklette, testified on that point that Doerfer told him last November in "a very forceful and emotional manner" that he didn't like the way the inquiry was developing and would refuse to answer questions except at a public hearing.

All Information Furnished

Shacklette added under committee members' questioning, however, that the FCC nonetheless had provided all the information he asked.

Doerfer did not mention the Florida trip when asked to describe trips he has made at the expense of persons under FCC regulation.

When Schwartz asked him about it, however, Doerfer said he spent some six days—or maybe a week—in Florida as the guest of TV man George B. Storer. He said Storer wanted to show him how ultra high frequency television operated in the area.

Sister, 18, Slated To Get Custody Of Orphaned 7

WALLACE, Idaho, Feb. 5 (P)—A probate judge said today he plans to appoint an 18-year-old girl as guardian of her seven brothers and sisters who were left orphans by an automobile accident last week.

Mrs. Edward Moore, the oldest of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Larsen, said yesterday she wants to keep the youngsters together and would seek custody.

"I know of no reason why Mrs. Moore should not be appointed guardian," said Probate Judge Peter Dufresne, who will hold a hearing on the matter Monday.

"There have been inquiries from other people who want to adopt the children, but Mrs. Moore is their closest relative and should be given preference since she wants the children."

Larsen, 41, and his wife, Donna, 34, were both killed early last Thursday when their truck left the highway near here and struck a telephone pole.

Faulty Engine Control Jolts Navy's Hopes

Big Rocket Breaks
In Middle; Wreckage
Being Recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 5 (P)—The Air Force said today that irregularities in the engine control system caused the Vanguard satellite-bearing test vehicle to break apart shortly after its launching early today.

The irregularities occurred in the engine control system of the first stage of the three-stage Navy vehicle.

It came 57 seconds after the launching of the rocket. Within three seconds the irregularities had deflected the missile so far to the right that it broke in two.

The Air Force statement said the Vanguard project includes "two more test vehicles" before another attempt is made to launch a full-sized satellite.

The Navy—disappointed in its second failure to get a satellite aloft—plans to delve deeper into just what went wrong before trying a third shot.

The Air Force said in a prepared announcement transmitted to it here by the Naval Research Laboratory that parts of the wreckage also have been recovered offshore.

Navy Hopes Suffer Jolt

The loss of the Vanguard was a sharp setback to Navy hopes to put a series of small satellites into an orbit during the International Geophysical Year now under way. That program already is considerably behind schedule.

The Naval Research Laboratory preliminary report on the Vanguard launching said:

"Our telemetry records show that between 57th and 60th seconds after takeoff, small irregularities occurred in the first stage engine control system."

"After the 60th second a failure in the control system caused the engine to deflect far to the right and the resultant abnormally high forces caused the rocket to break in the middle."

"At this time, the rocket was destroyed for safety reasons and fell into the Atlantic."

Parts Recovered

"Parts are being recovered for further study and to obtain additional details of the accident."

Project Vanguard has two more test vehicles before the satellite-launching vehicles are scheduled."

The Air Force, which operates the missile test center here for the armed services, searched the waters 3 to 10 miles off shore for wreckage.

Among the ruins might be the 6.4-inch sphere stored in the missile's nose for an attempt to place another earth satellite in company with the Army's Explorer established in orbit last Friday.

If the 34-pound hollow metal ball survives its four-mile flaming descent it might still be broadcasting the signals which under better circumstances would now have been coming from far out in space.

Sen. Gore Plans New PWA Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (P)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) announced today he is introducing a bill for a big job-creating public works program designed, he said, to head off a catastrophe to the economy.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) promptly accused the Eisenhower administration of having deliberately brought on the current recession with a tight money policy. Gore agreed, saying he could reach no other interpretation than Kerr's.

Gore emphasized he hopes his bill will not be construed as a forecast of a major depression in the offing.

"The nation has greater powers for averting such a disaster" than ever before, Gore said, but added that "I see danger signals." He said the country owes job opportunities to those who want to work, and that his bill would recognize this.

Gore's bill would create a public works administration to administer a half-billion-dollar program of state, county and local public works projects. It would require the projects be useful, and that workers be recruited from unemployment lists.

Record Budget Laid Before Legislature

McKeldin Asks Sales, Income Tax Hikes

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin laid his record-breaking $386 million dollar budget before the General Assembly today and proposed to balance it with higher income and sales taxes.

The budget introduced as Maryland's 30-day Legislature got under way called for expenditures of $183,436,475 in general funds. This would leave a gap of $38,533,340 between the state's needs and expected income.

To remedy that, McKeldin asked the lawmakers for an increase from 2 to 3 per cent in the state income tax and a similar hike from 2 to 3 per cent in the sales levy.

The sales tax would begin, as it does now, on purchases of 50 cents.

All this news that taxpayers would likely have to dig deeper in their pockets followed the assembly's overwhelming vote to override the governor's teachers' pay raise.

That measure, estimated to cost some 12 million dollars, would be financed largely through a three-cent tax on a pack of cigarettes, to become effective July 1.

The sales tax would become effective Nov. 1 and the income tax hike, from Jan. 1 of this year, although it would not apply to withholding money from wages until July 1. A Free State taxpayer would then feel the bite for the first half of the year when he made out his 1958 tax return.

The Republican governor also proposed to the Democrat-dominated Legislature that bonds issues totaling $13,567,000 to finance construction projects by 12 state agencies.

The recommended increase of more than 19 million dollars in the general fund included $3,300,000 for boosting pay of State employees, 7 million dollars for education, $3,150,000 for retirement and social security, $1,776,000 for welfare, $1,700,000 for health and hospitals, and $1,100,000 for mental hygiene.

A large chunk of the capital improvements program was slated for the University of Maryland, $3,296,000.

Russian Space Canines At Fair

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Russians will show off some of their canine rocket travelers at the Brussels World Fair Opening, April 17, the official in charge of the Soviet exhibits announced today.

Dmitri A. Ryzhkov said dogs chosen for the Soviet pavilion will be kennel mates of Laika, whose body is still circling the earth in the second Soviet satellite. All are veterans of successful trips into the stratosphere in Soviet rockets, he added.

The Russians also will display models of their two Sputniks, the instruments and equipment used to track their courses. But the Soviet official added in answer to a news conference question that there will be no models of the rocket carriers or the launching apparatus.

One of the main features of the Soviet exhibit will be a demonstration of how nuclear energy can be used for peaceful purposes.

Novelist Leaves 10 Million Estate

REDDING, Conn., Feb. 5 (AP)—Anne Parrish, novelist and widow of a financier, left an estate of more than 10 million dollars. She directed that most of it be used to create a mental health foundation. The will has been filed here for probate.

The author of more than 20 books, including best sellers, lived in nearby Georgetown, Conn. She died five months ago of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 68.

The bulk of her estate came from her first husband, Charles A. Corliss, president of Corliss & Lamont, a J. P. Morgan affiliate. After his death, she married Josiah Carlton Titzell, who wrote poetry and novels under the pen name of Frederick Lambeck. Titzell died in 1943.

Miss Parrish stipulated in her will that the study and treatment of mental and emotional disorders be undertaken by the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center or by a separate corporation if the center organized one.

Under the latter provision, the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center Foundation, Inc., was formed in 1956. The hospital and center had been notified at the time of Miss Parrish's intention to provide for the foundation.

Nine Negro Boys Quizzed In Attack On White Girl, 11

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Nine Negro youths held in the stripping, beating and cutting of an 11-year-old white girl underwent stiff questioning and lie detector tests tonight.

All insisted, according to Sex Bureau detectives, they were innocent of the assault last night on Carol Foss in a basement area-way near her home on the South Side.

Englewood Hospital reported the girl in fair condition with possible torn muscles in her thighs, cuts and bruises. Doctors said she was too weak to view any of those held in connection with the case.

Airlines Seek 4% Fare Boost

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Twenty-five airlines today asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to approve a 4 per cent passenger fare increase plus an additional $1 service charge for each ticket. The new rate would be effective next Monday.

The CAB has already said it would grant such interim increases, if the airlines asked for them, pending a study of airline requests for fare hikes ranging from 12 to 20 per cent.

The Air Transport Assn. said the new rate, when approved, would apply to almost all scheduled first-class and coach-service flights within the United States.

The higher fares would apply to tickets already purchased but not used before next Monday. The association urged passengers to have their tickets adjusted at ticket offices as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delays in departure.

In cases where any portion of a ticket purchased before Feb. 10 has been used, the old fare will apply.

Ike Won't Attend Prayer Meeting Due To His Cold

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower today canceled plans to attend a breakfast prayer meeting tomorrow morning because of his cold.

Announcing this, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty emphasized in response to questions that the President's cold and sore throat are no worse. Hagerty announced a schedule of business engagements for the President tomorrow.

Eisenhower's cold developed Sunday night after his return from a weekend of golf and general relaxation at Augusta, Ga. At a news conference this morning his voice was husky.

Despite the cold, the President put in the rest of the day at his office. During the afternoon he conferred for almost two hours with Secretary of State Dulles and the U.S. ambassador to Russia, Llewellyn Thompson.

29 Egyptians Die After Eating Bread

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 5 (AP)—Twenty-nine persons have died in the last two days after eating bread from a bakery in North Cairo. Twenty-one are reported in dangerous condition and more than 140 others are ill.

Dr. Nour el Dine Tarraf, minister of health, said today tests showed bad flour did not cause the deaths. He said 25 chemists have carried out experiments in an effort to trace the cause.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Supply said earlier that analysis had shown the flour used in the bakery contained poison.

Student Loses Life In Dormitory Fire

LAKE GROVE, N.Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—One youth perished early today and two were injured as fire destroyed a boys' dormitory at Lake Grove School, a private coeducational institution which draws most of its students from the New York City area.

The youth's body was found in the still-smoldering ruins of the $300,000 two-story frame structure. He was identified as Emil Custer, 14.

Thirty-nine boys and five teachers fled in freezing temperatures.

Funds Allocated From Soil Bank

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today allocated $272,087,000 among the states for the conservation reserve part of the soil bank program this year.

Under this program farmers get payments for retiring general cropland from production and diverting it to conservation uses, tree planting and wildlife protection for periods of three, five or 10 years.

In four states—Maine, Nebraska, Illinois and Tennessee—farmers have been asked to submit bids on retirement on full farms for 5 to 10 years under a trial program. The period for filing these bids expired Jan. 31 in Nebraska, Illinois and Tennessee and will expire Feb. 28 in Maine.

In other states, farmers will have through April 15 to sign agreements for retiring acreages. The rates of annual payments in these states are determined by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees.

Allocations by states included: Maryland $1,137,000, Tennessee $12,310,000, Virginia $2,128,000, and West Virginia $1,362,000.

The Tugela falls, in Natal, Africa, are 1,000 feet high.

Leopold Pleads For "Second Chance"

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 5 (AP)—Nathan Leopold today asked for parole from prison with the plea, "I can do more good outside."

Leopold, 33 now, thin-haired and pallid from 33 years behind the bars, made his bid for "a second chance" before the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board.

"I know I can do more good outside," he said. "I am an old man, a broken man, who pleads for your compassion. I want a chance to find redemption for myself and to help others."

Under questioning by members of the five-man board, Leopold said he would like to go to work for a hospital in the mountains of Puerto Rico, 80 miles from San Juan.

He said the hospital offered him $10 a month plus living expenses for doing technical work.

Leopold, scion of a wealthy family, wore a blue denim shirt and striped, rough trousers for his appearance at the hearing in an office at Stateville Penitentiary.

He harked back to the wanton slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks May 21, 1934, in Chicago. Leopold said his partner in the killing, Richard Loeb, plotted the crime.

"I would have done anything he suggested—anything for his favor," Leopold said, "even this revolting crime."

Carl Sandburg, 80, white-haired poet and author, told the board Leopold would be a good risk.

"He was in the darkness when he came here," Sandburg said, "and now he has found the light."

But State's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski of Cook County—Chicago—spoke out against freedom for Leopold and termed the slaying of the Franks boy "one of the most senseless of all time."

He said release of Leopold would be a blow to law enforcement. Loeb was slain by a fellow convict in 1936.

Leopold is serving life for murder and 65 years—reduced from the original 99—for kidnapping in the Franks case. Three earlier moves for parole and executive clemency failed.

The board plans to meet Feb. 20 in Springfield to make a decision on Leopold's plea.

Tip Prevents Mental Hospital Break

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—A tip to officials at Spring Grove State Hospital last week prevented what could have been a mass escape of criminally insane patients.

Officers who searched the hospital's Hillcrest division, where the criminally insane are kept, found four pieces of a hacksaw blade hidden.

And they arrested a 21-year-old trucker's helper, Gilbert F. Morgan, and charged him with attempting to aid in the escape. He was free in $2,500 bail for a preliminary hearing next Saturday.

Police, who announced the breaking up of the plot today, said at least 4 of the building's 68 inmates were in on the planned escape.

The inmates had made detailed plans, they added, even to picking out what window they would saw through, what hostages they would hold and what car they would use in their getaway.

The tip on the planned break was received by Philip L. Smith, director of Hillcrest, and Frank Oakley, division security officer, last Friday night. County officers were called in, and the detailed search was begun.

Police said the break apparently was scheduled for Saturday night or Sunday.

Spring Grove is located at Catonsville, a suburb west of Baltimore.

Rate Boosts Delayed

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today ordered the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. to delay proposed rate boosts pending a public hearing April 2.

Unemployment Payments Drop

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Unemployment insurance payments and new claims for payments dropped in Maryland last week. Employment officials found the trend "encouraging."

But Robert B. Kimble, chief of the Department of Employment Security, said it was still too early to say whether there has been a change in the overall employment picture.

He said that "much of the unemployment in early January was temporary, having resulted from post holiday layoffs, whereas a greater proportion of unemployment today is . . . of more than 30 days duration."

The department announced that $1,348,046 was paid out in benefits last week compared to $1,369,548 the previous week.

In addition, new claims for benefits, reflecting new unemployment, dropped to 5,624, compared with 7,289 the previous week.

The benefits last week involved 1,113 fewer checks than the record 46,166 distributed the week before.

Drug Store Robbed Of Checks, Narcotics

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—A South Baltimore drug store was burglarized of about $3,000 in cash and checks and an estimated $2,000 in narcotics early today.

Police said the work appeared to have been done by professionals.

The thieves entered the pharmacy through a roof frame, then wriggled down through a vent duct. Then, officers said, they took some gloves from a display to avoid leaving fingerprints.

The side of the 3-by-4 foot safe was ripped open, probably by a crowbar, and a strongbox containing the cash and checks taken.

The store manager, Kenneth Sober, said the thieves knew what they were doing when they picked over the drugs. They took only narcotics, plus some syringes, he said.

U.S. Aid For Poland

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The United States has agreed to provide 95 million dollars in new economic aid to Communist Poland.

This is the same total granted the Communist regime last year. The 1957 aid included surplus wheat, cotton and other farm goods, plus money to buy coal mining equipment.

Dr. Eisenhower Suggests New Education Program

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—A top educator—and a brother of President Eisenhower—today advanced a new education program to combat what he called a tendency toward decreased quality, "if not mediocrity" in the nation's secondary school system.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of The Johns Hopkins University, offered his suggestions in a speech before the Baltimore Advertising Club. He received the club's annual award as man of the year.

In effect, he called for a cutback in the types of courses offered, more concentration on the basic studies, more school work for Johnny and Mary and higher pay for teachers.

McKeldin Asks Park Funds

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today requested $112,900 for improvements at two state parks in Frederick County in his $13,567,800 capital improvements program submitted to the Legislature.

He asked $74,000 for development of the Manor area at Cunningham Falls State Park, including construction of a road, parking area, water and sanitary facilities, renovation of the pavilion, site improvements and a picnic area.

Gambrell State Park was listed for $38,900 for development of the Rock Run area, including water and sanitary facilities, picnic shelters and concession building, site of the picnic area.

The governor also requested $29,200 for the Maryland School for the Deaf, with $10,000 scheduled for preliminary plans of a primary school building to house and educate youngsters between 5 and 12 years old. He asked $15,200 for installation of lavatory and shower facilities in the boys' dormitory and $4,000 for additional equipment in the print shop.

Multiple Interest In Three Proceedings

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Ellis E. Day, one of a group of Parent-Teacher Assn. members visiting the Legislature today, had a multiple interest in the proceedings.

Her home straddles three different county lines and her daughter goes to school in a fourth county.

Mrs. Day said her kitchen is located in Frederick County, her living room in Montgomery County and her bedroom in Howard County. She was here representing the Carroll County PTA because her 7-year-old daughter Barbara goes to Mt. Airy Elementary School in that county.

She and her husband pay taxes and vote in Howard County since most of the other homes in the neighborhood are in that county.

Mrs. Day was among some 300 parents here to witness legislative action on Gov. McKeldin's veto of a school teacher pay raise bill.

Hospital Campaign

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—House passage by voice vote sent to President Eisenhower today a bill authorizing federal and District of Columbia contributions for a new hospital in southeast Washington near the Maryland border.

Governor's Requests

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today requested $9,300 for equipment at the Maryland State Reformatory's pre-parole camp and $16,800 for construction of a road and parking area at Fort Tonoloway State Park near Hancock.

The requests were included in his $13,567,800 capital improvements program submitted to the Legislature.

Mrs. Nave noted that most of the towns have yet to submit reports are where Mothers Marches were not held because of weather conditions. The Mt. Savage appeal was to have been conducted Tuesday, as were the Luke and Westernport projects, Mrs. Nave said.

A number of reports from local areas have also been received at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, headquarters for the drive. The Ridgedale Playground are collected $24.34; Bedford Road, $36.85; Virginia Avenue, $132.15, and Pennsylvania Avenue, $205.48.

Coin containers set out in business establishments for the March of Dimes will be collected Saturday, according to Louis V. Shinnamon, Allegany County chairman. The collection will be done under the supervision of Sgt. John H. Newhouse of the City Police Department, Shinnamon said.

Mrs. Nave singled out the workers who conducted the Mothers March at Ellerslie for special praise, noting that this year's collection was within $7 of the amount reported last year, when many more volunteers participated in the project.

Mrs. Naomi Sheetz and Mrs. Francis Rigglesman, who headed the drive in McCoole, were also cited by Shinnamon, who said the appeal there ran into a number of unanticipated obstacles.

Post Office Work Contract Awarded

The Post Office Department has awarded the contract for the painting of furniture and work surfaces in the postal section of the Post Office to the Northeast Associates firm of Philadelphia, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

The firm was the low bidder, with $2,795.85, among the approximately ten companies who submitted bids early last month. Conlon sent the Philadelphia firm a notice to proceed on Monday and specifications of the contract call for work to begin within 15 days of receipt of the notice, the postmaster said.

The work will also include the covering of work surfaces with linoleum, and the project is to be completed within 120 days of receipt of the notice to proceed.

No local firms submitted bids on the post office work, Conlon noted.

Three Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Three wills were admitted to probate Tuesday in Orphans Court.

The will of George S. Ziler, city, who died January 28, named his daughter, Dorothy Z. Ruble, Baltimore, as executrix and beneficiary.

The will of Eugene F. Mullan, city, who died January 19, named his nephew, Thomas E. Mullan, as executor. The estate was left to Sadie Mullan, sister of the deceased.

The Todd home was left to Evelyn Steele and the balance of the estate to Robert Todd Cuthbertson, Lonaconing; Mrs. Orrin Brandt, Bertha Hite and Margaret Hite, all of Penokee, Kan.

The publicity given the annual registration this year also brought in a number of aliens who resided in this country for a number of years without the knowledge that they were re-

Moorefield High Home-School Group Discusses Parent-Student-Teacher Problems, Relations

Mutual Problems, Curriculum Aired

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — A panel discussion on "What I as a Parent, Expect of the School" and "What the School Expects of Parents" featured the second meeting of the Home-School organization in the Moorefield High School Tuesday night. The meeting was held in the high school library, with Mrs. Aleck Welton, president, in charge.

After announcing the committee which had been appointed to work with her (Mrs. R. L. Baker, C. B. Hiett, John A. Mathias, John G. McNeill, Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. C. R. Powers, Mrs. Raymond Dispanet, Mrs. Courtney Pratt and G. C. Hamrick) Mrs. Welton outlined the purpose of the organization, "to promote better cooperation and understanding between the home and school."

Mrs. Welton introduced Rev. Charles Godwin who was to act as moderator of the panel, and the panel, composed of Dr. M. H. Maxwell, Mrs. James Bond, P. W. Clarke and John A. Mathias.

Dr. Maxwell outlined what he expected the schools to do for his children. To teach them (1) English, which includes the classics, spelling and grammar; (2) Mathematics, in all the elementary branches; (3) History, both General and World; (4) two-year course in a foreign language; (5) general science, biology and another science. He felt that perhaps too much emphasis was placed on athletics.

P. W. Clarke, following Dr. Maxwell, prefaced his remarks by stating that it is one thing to offer courses, another to persuade pupils to take the courses. He stated that teachers expect and hope for an understanding on the part of parents of the teachers' problems; that they seek cooperation from parents; they would appreciate knowing the parents of their students; and they would like parents to see that students study at home.

Mrs. Bond, the second parent to speak, stated that the thing she hoped for from the school was that children would be taught to think and that enough would be required from a child to keep him busy.

Mr. Mathias asked that parents keep their fingers on the pulse of the child's school life. He asked parents to have confidential chats with their children concerning school; that they study the report cards; that they visit the class rooms. He urged parents not to forget that they were once students and to help the teachers remember their own student-hood.

Teachers would appreciate health charts on children, as it would enable them to better understand.

derstand the child. And in conclusion, Mr. Mathias asked that parents show respect for teachers, not voicing their dissatisfaction to the child, but taking such matters up with the teacher. He also urged parents to get an interpretation of rules and regulations that they might understand why certain things are required.

After the panel completed its remarks, the meeting was open to general discussion and both parents and teachers took part. At the conclusion of the formal program, teachers went to their classrooms and parents wishing to discuss the progress of their children, visited them. Doughnuts and coffee were served by the Home Ec Department and the discussion was continued in a social setting.

Syrian Lady And Egyptian Tiger

“—back from the ride With the Lady inside And a smile on the face of the tiger.” The not inconsiderable number of Syrian-born in the United States must be hoping that the well known limerick will not apply to their former country as it has advanced another step toward union with Egypt.

After all, in this merger on the point of consummation (at least on paper), Egypt contributes almost 24 million people, Syria not many more than 4 million. Syria does have the better standard of living, more literacy, perhaps a higher level of military efficiency, now that its forces are under Soviet influence. But the numerical odds of 6 to 1 are still considerable odds in favor of Col. Nasser.

It was last March that Syria began to complain all over the place of being in danger from Turkey. In August a Leftist coup d'etat took over the government in Damascus. One month later Egyptian troops landed.

They were supposed to help protect Syria against Turkey, and/or Jordan, and/or, who knows?, oil-hungry Uncle Sam, the dirty imperialist. But it was significant that on November 18, with Nasser's forces entrenched in Syria, the parliament in Damascus joined the parliament in Cairo in voting for steps to unite the two Arab lands.

Whether the tiger found the lady hard to digest, the limerick sayeth not. In the present case, the ingurgitated may prove tough. For one thing, any attempt to combine the two armies will run up against the fact that the Syrian is the higher paid. And the Russian agents in Damascus, while perhaps callous about Nasser pushing the Syrians around, are quite unlikely to let him push them around.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

New York's Troubles

The current scandal in New York is over education, the competence of the educational system, the wisdom of so-called modern and progressive ideas and methods. In a broader sense, it is a racial question. It concerns itself with the assimilation of the enormous Puerto Rican population and the integration of the Puerto Ricans and the Negroes in the school system.

The politicians have dodged this issue for two decades and now it has blown up in their faces because in a large number of schools, labelled "difficult," there is no discipline; teachers are beaten by pupils; there is theft, robbery, rape and mayhem.

Into this complex situation stepped a publicity-conscious Grand Jury in Brooklyn which came up with the idea that these problems which beset public education throughout the country and are influencing our national social structure, can be solved by stationing a patrolman in each school. To this the Board of Education, a competent body, objected on the sound grounds that it is pedagogically bad for the children to associate the school system with force of this type, that only a comparatively few schools are disorderly (41 out of 850) and that the problem must be solved within the school system itself to be of any value to the children.

While this quarrel is being conducted in the newspapers, a high school principal, Dr. George Goldfarb, after visiting the Grand Jury, commits suicide. Prior to this tragic event, Dr. Goldfarb had informed the Board of Education that a member of the Grand Jury had threatened him with an indictment. This the foreman of the Grand Jury denied and his photograph appeared in the newspapers. The Board of Education was therefore constrained to issue a notice, signed by each member, confirming Dr. Goldfarb's statement.

The Brooklyn Grand Jury is not, of course, maintaining the rigid and sacred secrecy which is characteristic of this ancient Anglo-Saxon institution. President of the Board of Education Charles Silver said in a statement which the entire Board endorsed:

"... Unfortunately, this attack is only the latest in a series of sensational public statements made by the Grand Jury before all of the evidence has been received and contrary to the secrecy that should guard its activities. Such tactics in harassing public officials entrusted with the guidance of youth serve only to undermine public confidence, impair the morale of the teaching staffs and the student body, and disrupt the efficient operation of the educational system. Moreover, the entire inquiry has been conducted in a manner that would completely prevent any possible constructive benefit."

Although such charges are often made against investigative bodies the consensus of public opinion is that it is true of the conduct of the Brooklyn Grand Jury, which is messing into a situation which will not be readily solved because it is racial and nationalistic and includes many factors which do not readily lend themselves to solution, such as the age of education-resisting young people, who are required to remain at school by law; the racial difference in maturity of children in certain environments; the sex compulsions in mixed groups, particularly among children from broken homes in which sex played an unorthodox role between parents and paramours and in sight of the children.

Such factors cannot be dealt with politically. When a girl is raped on the roof or in the basement of a school, it is not good politics to ask what the girl was doing on the roof or in the basement. The girl must always be regarded as being offended against!

The problem is frightfully complex and although public officials have no right to throw up their hands in despair, it also does not help to add the condiment of personal politics to it.

A Grand Jury investigation as to why the racial problem in New York is less easily solved than in Little Rock would have to be truthful to be worth while, and the truth can only be that in the struggle for recognition, the Puerto Ricans, who do not regard themselves as Negroes and resent the classification, and the Negroes who are by population growing so rapidly that they are becoming the most important element in New York, are not easily managed in the schools. It will take courage and astute leadership to convey to youngsters that no one can beat his way upward.

Improved Peace Outlook

Truman Didn't Tell Full Story About MacArthur

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Former President Truman didn't give the American people the full story of the episodes concerning General Eisenhower and General MacArthur which he told to a television audience on Sunday. Neither did he give accurately the facts in what he did say—due either to faulty memory or to carelessness.

When Mr. Truman deals with the reputations of other public men, he admittedly fancies himself always in the political arena where anything goes.

Thus, for instance, Mr. Truman said that in 1945 he discouraged General Eisenhower from seeking the Presidential nomination and argued that "a man at the top with a military reputation" shouldn't do it because he "could only have that reputation smeared if he went into politics." In the book by General Eisenhower, published in 1948, he relates that at Potsdam in 1945 Mr. Truman told him: "General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948."

Mr. Truman in 1945, of course, wanted to be a candidate to succeed himself in the 1948 election. Everything that he says about the alleged position of General Eisenhower occurred before the 1948 campaign.

Mr. Truman stated that he has in his possession a copy of a letter which the general wrote to a New Hampshire newspaperman, giving reasons why a military man should not be President. Mr. Truman gave the impression that this letter has never been made public. Actually, its contents were published when the letter was written in January 1948, long before Mr. Eisenhower decided in January 1952 to accept the Presidential nomination if it were offered him.

Another striking error in Sunday's television talk by Mr. Truman was his claim that General MacArthur was fired because he was "insubordinate" and because "he disobeyed orders directly." The facts were stated by General

MacArthur in February 1956, when he issued a statement replying to similar charges in the "Truman Memoirs." The general said:

"This belated claim of insubordination is made by him not as a public official but as a private citizen. In making it he conveniently ignores the fact that the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, my military superiors in the conduct of the Korean War, specifically, categorically and unanimously denied under oath before the joint Senatorial committee investigating the reasons for my relief that I had ever been guilty of insubordination, and the joint-committee members themselves in the report made at the conclusion of the hearings were in complete agreement upon this point."

Mr. Truman, in his television speech last Sunday, also said that General MacArthur had sent "an article" to the magazine "U.S. News & World Report" and did not send a copy to the White House or to the President and that he found a copy in the press room of the White House and "suppressed it."

The fact is that it wasn't an "article" for this particular magazine, but it was the text of a message sent at the request of the commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for delivery at its meeting in Chicago in August 1950. The message had been distributed in advance, as is customary, to the press in this country. The magazine in question obtained on a Friday from the press relations office of the Chicago convention an "automatic release" for publication of the MacArthur message in the issue coming out on the following Monday.

When Mr. Truman saw a copy of the message on Saturday morning, it is true it was discussed at a meeting of high officials, and, on instructions of the President, an order was sent to General MacArthur directing him to withdraw the document from publication. The general promptly obeyed the order and on Sunday the VFW notified the press that the message was to be with-

Baering Down On The News

Republican Probers Should Find Plenty Of Democrat Finagling

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—So far it's been the Republican members of the Moulder FCC investigation committee who have voted solidly, steadily, and unanimously against doing any deep-rooted investigating, to pay for which they were voted a quarter of a million dollars. That quarter of a million has now been spent and the preliminary evidence is at hand.

Reluctantly the Republicans were forced by the pressure of public opinion into a probe of free color TV sets and travel for FCC officials. However, the TV scandals go much deeper. And if the Republicans are afraid of stepping only on Republican toes, here are some Democratic toes they can also step on:

Toe No. 1—Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina, Jimmie, who has long been known as "Mr. Democrat" of the southeast, was Secretary of State under Truman, Supreme Court Justice under Roosevelt, a Democratic Senator, Congressman, and War Mobilizer. With this prestige behind him he sent a letter to the U.S. Court of Appeals, urging speedy action on WSPA, a TV station near Spartanburg, S. C., in which his wife owns stock.

As a former justice of the highest court in the land, Jimmie knew it was unethical to write such a letter. Yet he wrote it to the late Chief Judge Harold Stephens on behalf of his wife's station. The Court of Appeals, however, held against Mrs. Byrnes and Jimmie's long-time friend held. But it was too late—the magazine's copies containing the text of the message were already in the mails to subscribers for Monday delivery. The Chicago Tribune, learning this, also printed the text on Monday morning, as did other newspapers. The general was in no way responsible for the accident of publication. There was no "disobedience" involved.

The message, as General MacArthur said in his statement a year ago, was a "routine" communication to a veterans' organization and "normally would have attracted little attention other than from those who might have secretly harbored the ultimate intent to surrender Formosa to Red Chinese control."

Mr. Truman himself evidently didn't take this episode too seriously at the time, because a month later, when the spectacular landing at Inchon resulted in world-wide acclaim for General MacArthur, the former President himself not only joined in the praise then but, after a meeting with the general in mid-October of the same year at Wake Island, gave out statements laudatory of General MacArthur.

What really caused General MacArthur's removal was something else—he was politically in disfavor with Harry Truman. When, for instance, inquiry was sent to the general by the minority leader of the House of Representatives, asking for information on certain Far Eastern problems, and the general replied — never thinking the letter would be made public—the former President did not like the political furor made by the publication of the letter.

Mr. Truman had a right to dismiss General MacArthur for political reasons or personal reasons if he wished to do so—but it ill becomes him to tell millions of Americans today that a heroic general, who was himself once chief of staff of the Army and knew military law as well as anyone, actually "disobeyed orders" and was "insubordinate."

Causes Of Eyestrain And How To Avoid Them

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The eyes should be used but not abused. Intense eyestrain may stem from small abnormalities such as poor lighting. There is no substitute for good illumination, free of glare and flicker, while reading or doing other close work.

Fluorescent equipment is excellent except when a tube begins to wear out and flickers on and off. Glare comes from glossy paper, glasstop desks, and windows. A well lighted room offers less contrast than a spot of lighting on the reading material.

Vision is disturbed temporarily by irritants such as tobacco smoke, smog, gases, and industrial fumes. The result is burning, itching, watering, and other discomforts. Certain parts of the visual apparatus are affected by drugs such as those used in treating high blood pressure and gastrointestinal disorders. This adds to the strain of reading. Poor posture, holding near work too close to the eyes, or sitting too close to TV leads to eyestrain.

The muscles of the eyes are no different from the muscles in other parts of the body. They become exhausted when asked to work under a handicap. The nearsighted child, for example, lives in a confined world because objects in the distance are blurred and he spends more time reading, writing, and drawing than playing out of doors.

These youngsters complain of discomfort in and about the eyes at the end of the day. Strain is not permanent and does not make nearsightedness worse but is tiring to the muscles. The efficiency of vision can be improved with glasses whenever a refractive error is responsible for eyestrain. This includes near and far vision, astigmatism, and changes in vision that arise with age. Improper refraction aggravates rather than helps the situation.

But specs are not a panacea for all types of failing vision. Some conditions cannot be corrected with lenses. But advances are being made right along in this field and no older should stay away from an ophthalmologist because he fears he cannot be helped.

and associate, Walter Brown, on two different occasions. Despite this, the Federal Communications Commission three times supported Mr. Democrat's wife and friends in permitting them to switch their TV antenna from Hog Back Mountain to Paris Mountain despite the fact that this knocked one UHF station out of business and gave unfair competition to a second.

If the Republican Congressmen are afraid of hurting too many Republicans, they can dig into this interesting case of Democratic wire-pulling:

Toe No. 2 — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. Mrs. Johnson, a lovely lady, is head of the LBJ Co. which owns one radio station and two TV stations in Texas. Her husband's prestige didn't hurt her at all in getting them, and she was paid in the past $25,000 as board chairman, which the income tax agents questioned on the ground that she couldn't operate the stations in Texas while living in Washington with the Senator. This was settled in her favor, which, however, is not the point the Moulder Committee should investigate.

The point to be investigated is how the Johnson family got its first big TV license, KTBC-TV, in Austin. Any investigation will reveal a whole series of so-called "quickie" grants to the Johnsons and many others, put across under FCC Chairman Paul Walker, a Democrat, when the Democrats dominated the FCC.

These "quickie" grants were one of the most unfair developments in the telecasting business. Among other things, they helped put UHF television almost out of business. And the UHF part of the TV spectrum is where a lot of TV licenses can be granted instead of a few big semi-monopolistic VHF licenses.

What happened was that when the FCC unfroze television after the war, a TV applicant would get together with a competing applicant, buy or persuade him out, then file a new application at 5 p. m., just a few minutes before the FCC closed for the day. Then at 10 a. m. next day, there being no competition, the FCC automatically granted him a license.

If he had filed at 3 p. m. instead of 5 p. m. he couldn't have got away with it. Because other attorneys would have seen the new, non-competitive application and would have filed a competing one. For a time the FCC was kept open until 7 p. m. to let these quickie, revised applicants come in. Then next morning the license was handed out, not on the basis of what was good for the community, but only on the basis that there was no competition.

Several hundred TV licenses, in addition to Lyndon Johnson's, were handed out in this way. They were worth eight to twelve million dollars, but the FCC gave each only a couple of minutes consideration.

This was done under the Democrats; so the Republicans on the Moulder Committee shouldn't be so fearful about investigating.

Toe No. 3—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby. Nominally, Mrs. Hobby is a Democrat. True, she held office under Ike, but she was unceremoniously kicked out; so Republican Congressmen who are shying away from any embarrassment of the Eisenhower administration should not hesitate to probe the manner in which the FCC gave Mrs. Hobby's TV empire one-third interest in a TV station in Beaumont, Tex.

The Hobby family, which owned KPRC and KPRC-TV in Houston, plus the Houston Post, was originally turned down by the FCC for a TV station in Beaumont. Then suddenly the FCC did an unusual thing. Politics reared its head. A rehearing was scheduled. In only one other political case had the FCC ever reopened a decision already made. But with unusual forces working behind the scene, it reopened this one, and after the new hearing was scheduled, the Hobby family paid $55,000 for one-third interest in the Beaumont Broadcasting Co., and eventually got the blessing of the complacent and politically minded FCC.

The deal smelled so bad that at one point the Court of Appeals threw it out, but the FCC still ruled in favor of the Hobby group.

These are just a few of the FCC's backstage operations, going much deeper than free color TV sets and free travel, which ought to be investigated.

Touring In Russia

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — (INS) — Lot of people have asked, "Did you have any trouble moving around in Russia?"

Not in Moscow, where we spent all but a fraction of our time while in Russia. There probably would have been trouble in certain other areas. We asked to see their new super-cyclotron, about 60 miles outside of Moscow, but met with polite evasion. It was never a solid, "no," but it amounted to the same. We keep Russian visitors away from certain portions of our country, too. Russia's (and the world's) chess champion recently was denied the right to play in Dallas, Russia's greatest violinist had to cancel a Syracuse date because a nearby plant makes a component of one of our rockets.

We might have been "bugged" in Moscow, but there was never any suggestion that we were followed. Matter of fact, the language barrier is so titanic that it was a relief — when we didn't have Serge Flegiers of INS with us — to have the services of Zoya Novikova, the lady assigned to us by Intourist, the state-owned travel agency. She knew the sights and sounds of the land and gave us a minimum of party-line.

There are several ways of getting to Russia, if you've been toying with the notion, but apparently no way of just going there without some kind of Soviet supervision — as one might go into England, France or Italy, Intourist maintains offices in the larger cities, and deputizes American travel agents in smaller places to act for it. Ide H. Schmidt of the Macpherson Travel Bureau in New York, who was prospecting for hotels, restaurants and transportation in Russia while we were there, tells me she is busy booking Americans into the U.S.S.R. right now.

Is it interesting? — people ask. Sure. It's not as gay as Paris. Lord knows, or as thought-provoking as Italy, or as comfortable and reassuring as England. But it is now the nation with which we may be dealing with and vying with for the next few centuries and, as such, should be better known.

Any hostility toward Americans? We didn't feel any. Nor even too much curiosity, really. Where ever we went the people just seemed to accept us. The customs people were decent, the cops helpful, the hotel people — none of whom could speak a word of English — tried manfully (and girfully) to figure out what the dickens we wanted for breakfast when we'd make cackling noises and otherwise imitate a hen.

Seriously, it seemed to us that the Kremlin people who have been denouncing America in print, pamphlet, text book and on the air for 40 years failed abysmally to get through to the average Russian in the streets.

Expensive? Yes. Airlines fares can run almost twice as much as U.S. sky rates. Food prices are standardized in a rough sort of way: for example a "first class meal" costs the same in the best hotel or the most modest restaurant, as does a "second class meal." The Russian hotels appear to go in heavily for what we call "American plan." That is, they expect you to eat there, too, as part of the total charge.

There is one addition: you get the use of a car for an hour or two a day, with chauffeur and Intourist guide thrown in, as part of the bill. You can count on the whole thing coming to about $30 a day, at a place like the National Hotel.

Food? Not so hot. The soups are good and robust. You're likely to find a whole big sausage in your borsh. The shashlik — lamb, etc., on a spike — is tougher than ours. The beef sort of raises the question of whether it is truly beef, but that's chiefly because it is not cut as our meats are trimmed. You might get a cube-sized steak, for example.

Booze? No bourbon, rye, scotch or gin. But the vodka is excellent, especially if there's Polish vodka to be had. The wines are listless, and the Russian beer tastes as if — at the last moment — somebody at the brewery decided to play a little joke and pour a pound of sugar into the bottle.

In short, it's the new fine-place-to-visit-but-I'd-hate-to-live-there.

Which, at least, gives New York City a bit of a respite from that hardy cliché.

Piedmont Halts Keyser For Lions 12th Win In Row

Losers Bow By 81-61 In Conference

Victory Is 10th In PVC For Miersmen; 800 Fans See Contest

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Feb. 5 — Coach Huck Miers' Piedmont High Lions trampled Keyser High's Golden Tornado, 81-61, here tonight to chalk up their 12th win in a row and 10th straight in the Potomac Valley Conference.

The PVC leaders virtually clinched the loop crown with tonight's win as second-place Circleville bowed to Moorefield in another league encounter.

Four of Piedmont's starters scored in the double figures as Richard Niland tallied 20 points. Joe Taylor 19, Joe Niland 14 and D. T. Twyman 10.

Approximately 800 fans saw the clash as Piedmont took an early 6-0 lead and was never headed. Keyser pulled within three points in the second period but then faded. Piedmont led much of the way by 12 to 15 points.

High scorer for Keyser was Ronnie Smith with 25 points. Two players left the game on personal fouls, Kay Hollingsworth of Keyser and Joe Taylor of Piedmont.

In the preliminary game Piedmont's Junior High team won over Keyser Junior High, 35-31. The lineups:

Brennan Has Slim ACC Point Margin

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 5 — Pete Brennan of North Carolina opened about a three-point gap over Virginia's Herb Busch in the Atlantic Coast Basketball Conference individual scoring race last week, but Busch's chart shows Brennan's position to be hardly comfortable as they head into the last month of the season.

Brennan, latest ACC Service Bureau figures show, is averaging 20.3 points a game to 17.7 for Busch and 17.3 for Tar Heel teammate Tommy Kearns, who drew close when Busch scored only 11 total points in games with Duke and VMI last week.

But Busch, second to Brennan in rebounding 11.2 to 12.4, is hitting 50.7 per cent of his shots from the floor and 80.9 per cent from the foul line despite the two-game woe of last week. These compare to Brennan's 45 per cent from the floor and 70.4 per cent from the foul line and keep Busch in hot contention.

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 — Hal Spooner scored 22 points today as he led Navy's undefeated plebe basketball team to an 83-57 victory over the Western Maryland freshmen.

OXFORD, Ohio, Feb. 5 — Dayton University, rated 14th in the nation, made an early field goal stand up for four minutes of overtime tonight for a 64-62 basketball victory over Miami of Ohio.

WVU To Meet St. John's In Garden Tonight

Mountaineers Seek 13th Win In N.Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — The nation's top ranked basketball team from the West Virginia hills will arrive here early tomorrow for its 29th game in Madison Square Garden. West Virginia University, with a 15-1 record, plays the St. John's Redmen of Brooklyn tomorrow night.

While the well-balanced Mountaineers will be critically scrutinized by New York's particular followers of the cage game, the clash with the 10-2 Redmen will not have their undivided attention.

West Virginia engages the University of Richmond in another road game Saturday night. It was the Spiders from Virginia which gave WVU fits in their first Southern Conference meeting at Morgantown, W. Va., early this season.

Coach Fred Schaus, whose WVU teams have won more than 75 per cent of their games, match strategy for a second time with his former professional coach, the famous Joe Lapchick.

Lapchick, who returned to St. John's last season, was at the helm of the New York Knickerbockers during Schaus' final season in the pro ranks in 1934.

The Mountaineers trounced the Redmen at Morgantown last season, 105-72, to even the six-game series between the two schools.

The team is the thing about this season's Mountaineers, whose five regulars are averaging in the double figures in scoring. Sophomore Jerry West leads with 16.9 points per game average, but "low man" Joedy Gardner has a 10.5 average.

In between, its Don Vincent with 12.2, 6-10 Lloyd Sharrar with 12.2 and junior Bob Smith with 11.9.

West Virginia has won its last two regular season games in the Garden — beating New York University last season, 83-77, and St. John's by 87-75 in 1956.

Tomorrow night's appearance will find the Mountaineers after their 13th victory in the Garden, where they have lost 16 times.

West Virginia has won six of 13 regular season games here and six of 13 tournament starts, which include four National Invitational Tournament games and three NCAA first-round tourney contests.

Tucson Open Starts Today

Ken Venturi Picked As Likely Winner

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 5 (P)—No golfer has won three tournaments in a row in more than five years but Ken Venturi is being made a slight favorite to win the $15,000 Tucson open which starts tomorrow.

The San Francisco youngster has won the last two events on the tourney trail, at Palm Springs and Phoenix.

The 6,434-yard, par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club layout will be one of the shortest played by the pros all year. They call it a pitch and putt course and Venturi says his greatest need for improvement is on his pitch shots.

Venturi faces a field from which some big names are missing but which includes three of the other four winners of 1958—Frank Stranahan, winner at Los Angeles; Dutch Harrison, victor at Tijuana; and J. C. Gosbie, the El Centro champ.

Billy Casper, Crosby winner, became ill Sunday and returned home.

Defending champion Dow Finsterwald and Tommy Bolt, a two-time Tucson winner, are among those ready to tee off tomorrow for the 72-hole grind ending Sunday.

ARCHERY IS RAPIDLY GAINING IN POPULARITY. EACH YEAR SEES MORE SPORTSMEN TURNING TO THE BOW AND ARROW FOR THEIR HUNTING.

THERE ADE A VARIETY OF ARROWHEADS, SOME BARBED, OTHERS BARBLESS. THE BLADES RUN FROM TWO TO SIX. BULLET-SHAPED HEADS ARE FOR SMALL GAME.

A GOOD ARROW COSTS ABOUT ONE DOLLAR SO AFTER A WHILE THERE IS SOME-THINGS A LONG SEARCH. IF YOU FAIL TO FIND AN ARROW, TRY THE OLD ARCHER'S TRICK. GO BACK TO THE SPOT FROM WHICH YOU SHOT AND FOLLOW ALONG THE LINE OF FLIGHT. CHANCES ARE YOU'LL FIND IT.

MANY STATES HAVE SET ASIDE SPECIAL SEASONS AND AREAS FOR ARCHERS ONLY.

THE SUCCESSFUL ARCHER MUST BE AN EXCELLENT STALKER. THAT CALLS FOR SHOTS FROM MANY POSITIONS.

Hot Stovers Meet Tonight

Loop To Organize And Elect Officers

The Hot Stove League will meet tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to reorganize the youth baseball circuit and prepare for the coming season. Officers for 1958 will be elected at the meeting.

All representatives and former managers of Hot Stove League teams have been invited to attend the important session. Gene Mason, recreation director, said last night.

Earl Nonnenmann, president, will be in charge of tonight's meeting.

The Elks captured last year's regular campaign title but were defeated by the Rotary Club in the playoffs.

Teams in the circuit last year were Elks, piloted by Howard "Farmer" Northcraft; Rotary, headed by Lonnie Jackson; Optimists, managed by Lou Marrale; Kiwanis, led by Wayne White; Jaycees, coached by George Flynn; Lions, managed by John Daum; B'nai B'rith, led by Fred Comer; and Exchange, piloted by Joe Felten.

Canal Project Termed Major Tourist Factor

Members of the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club were briefed on the recreational value of the proposed C & O Canal National Park Tuesday night.

Edwin M. Dale, Hagerstown, superintendent of the C & O Canal historical project, outlined plans for establishing recreation centers along the canal, including sites at Oldtown and Paw Paw. Mr. Dale said such a project would be a tremendous factor in bringing visitors into Western Maryland.

The project, he explained, would bring tourists to communities along the canal as the restored area from Georgetown to Great Falls does to Washington, D. C.

The Oldtown club several years ago endorsed the historical park plan backed in Congress by Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. Dewitt S. Hyde.

Both legislators sent regrets that they could not attend Tuesday night's meeting.

Presiding at the session attended by nearly 70 sportsmen of the Oldtown area was Robert Brown, president.

Charles Myers, president of a Williamsport citizens committee, said petitions are being signed there in support of the Beall-Hyde proposal.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court this week. The bills of complaint were titled Mary Alice Wilt vs. Benny Francis Wilt, Virginia Rice vs. Clifton H. Rice and Louis G. LaVelle vs. Anthony Sylvester LaVelle.

Legislative Highlights

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Among bills dumped in the hopper as the General Assembly opened today was one aimed at preventing possible property tax losses totaling $22,800,000 to the state and county treasuries.

The bill, designed to offset the effect of a recent court of appeals decision, was prepared by the State Tax Commission and introduced in the Senate by Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto).

The measure would allow assessment of personal property at market value while real estate is assessed at full value less an allowance for inflation.

Assessors have been following that procedure for many years, but the court of appeals struck down an assessment of Sears Roebuck inventory on grounds the levy was discriminatory.

Albert E. Ward, executive secretary of the Tax Commission, has estimated the high court decision could cost the state and its subdivisions $22,800,000 if the inflation allowance is allowed on all types of personal property.

The bill is expected to meet strong opposition from manufacturing and business interests.

W.Va. Gasoline Tax Bill Dies In House

CHARLESTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate devoted much of its next-to-last day of the 1958 session to passing a gasoline tax bill which the House promptly killed when it reached that chamber.

The measure was put in by President Bean (D-Hardy) to implement collection of the gasoline tax from trucks who use the West Virginia highways.

As part of the plan, it would require all operators of trucks with more than two axles to register each vehicle with the Tax Department and pay a registration fee of $1.

Senators Carrigan (R-Marshall) Martin (D-Berkeley) and Stemple (R-Barbour) voted for the bill with expressed reservations.

Bean estimated his gas bill when fully operative, would bring in from one to two million dollars a year.

The motor registration bill in effect, was killed by a House action postponing it indefinitely, following consideration by the delegates of its provisions in a committee of the whole session.

R. C. Ferrell, who formerly headed the Tax Department's gasoline tax division and who now is an assistant clerk for the House Finance Committee, answered some questions regarding provisions of the proposed legislation.

Ferrell and Legislative Auditor C. H. Koonitz explained that present law requires out-of-state truckers to indicate to the Tax Department whether they intend to pay tax on gasoline used in West Virginia, or whether they will buy a commensurate amount of motor fuel here.

Ferrell told the delegates that through

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Charm To Depend On

Things simply don't go right all of the time. Every now and then something happens to pull down the curtain on the sunniest disposition. How do you muster the greatest possible charm to cope with situation?

Suppose your troubles are in your office. The boss delays a chore for you until you can't finish it without missing an appointment immediately after five. Someone you work with does a job so badly that you must undo part of it before you can make your own contribution, or you're faced with more work than you should be expected to do.

Do these things make you resentful, stubborn, bitter? Do you have a feeling of martyrdom, carry a grudge? If you do, even though you don't make a show of your feelings, they'll show anyway, in your manner, however subtly, in your attitude of cooperation and in the quality of your work.

Sometimes the thing to do is to look at the long-range results of showing your reactions and to make every attempt never to reveal them. It's seldom in any way worthwhile to lessen your own value to the project or the business. And it may be an opportunity to prove just how sound your personality is, how able you are to take the larger view which leads to success.

On the other hand, if you have a just grievance, it may be right to bring it out in the open. A discussion may improve matters if you go about it in the right way. But be matter-of-fact in your approach. This is very important. Don't get emotional or personal.

If you can always take the trouble to peer through the haze that separates one side from the other, to see a point not your own and to look ahead rather than too close to you, yours will be a durable charm that you and everyone else can depend on.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 diamond Pass 1 spade Pass
2 clubs Pass 2 hearts Pass
3 spades Pass 3 diamonds Pass
4 hearts Pass 4 spades Pass
5 spades Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ace of spades.

The bidding in today's hand may seem rather involved but the final contract was sound enough.

North choose to open with one diamond in order to avoid embarrassment in rebidding. Thus over the one spade response he was able comfortably to bid two clubs. South showed his second suit, eliciting a spade preference from partner. When he raised diamonds next, North bid three hearts.

South aimed at the wrong target. There were five diamonds out against him, and there was a good chance that they would break three-two.

The proper procedure is to cash the ace and king of diamonds and the ace of hearts, then the ace of clubs, discarding a heart. The South hand is entered by ruffing a club. On the king and queen of hearts two diamonds are parked. A diamond is ruffed with dummy's last trump, and declarer's hand is now high.

Market Loses One-Third Of Its Recent Advance

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (P) — The stock market today lost about a third of its rise of the past two sessions in moderate trading.

It was a day of cross-currents in the news and digestion of past gains. The new failure of the Vanguard space satellite hit Martin Co., prime contractor for the project, and was an adverse psychological factor for other stocks.

Steels, motors, rubbers, oils, chemicals and rails were lower. Aircrafts, building materials, motion pictures and mail orders were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 80 cents to $164.20 with the industrials down $1.60, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities unchanged.

For the sixth straight day, Royal Dutch topped the most active list. It was off 1/4 at 40 1/4 on 76,600 shares. The Feb. 10 deadline for conversion of stockholders' rights to subscribe to the firm's big new stock issue has brought heavy dealings.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott, which raised its dividend, was second as it rose 1/4 to 19 1/4 on 45,000 shares. Third was General Dynamics, up 1/4 at 62 1/2 on 33,800 shares.

Next came Standard Oil (NJ), off 1/4 at 50 1/4, and Fairchild Engine, up 1/4 at 9.

Garrett County Still Digging Out Of Snow

Occasional Rain Expected Today

Winter apparently has let up a little in nearby Garrett County which for the past several days has been in the throes of old-fashioned winter weather with plenty of snow.

And the highway situation is beginning to look a little better. Last night about 85 per cent of the roads in that county were open, according to Paul W. De Witt, assistant county roads engineer, who said conditions are much better than on Tuesday.

The Weather Bureau said occasional rain is expected to fall in the district today.

During the afternoon yesterday a fine misty sleet and some snow fell in Garrett County. High winds had died down. The maintenance crews kept up their busy pace during the day in an attempt to keep highways open to traffic.

About half the task force is on night duty now, using the "big machines" to clear highways.

School children of Garrett County are expected to return to class this morning after being on vacation during the snowstorm.

Ralph O. Weber, official weather observer in Garrett County, said the thermometer was on the 33-degree mark and winds had quieted down. He said some of the snow had melted during the day.

During the past several days about 30 inches of snow fell in Garrett County and high winds caused drifts up to about 15 feet.

Cloudy skies with occasional rain are forecast for Maryland today with high temperatures ranging from 38 degrees to 46 degrees except 33 to 38 in the western portion of the state.

Liquor Board Cites Cadillac, Al's Chateau

Holders of the liquor licenses for the Cadillac Liquor Store Inc. and Al's Chateau, downtown night clubs, were cited yesterday to appear before the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners at 10 a.m. Tuesday, February 18, to show cause why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

Both establishments were fined $500 and court costs by Chief Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court on charges of selling intoxicating beverages to three 19-year-old girls last June 11.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir stated last night that the citations were served on both establishments yesterday.

The Cadillac license is held by Jane R. Molinari, John L. Farrin and William D. Trozzo, while Al's Chateau's license is in the names of E. A. Cromwell, Daisy D. Cromwell and Dorothy J. Cromwell.

The liquor board discussed these cases at its meeting Tuesday and decided to delay the citations until it could be determined whether the two establishments planned to appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals. They have 30 days from the date of conviction to appeal. However, both have indicated they will not appeal.

C&A Cites Plan For $2,800,000 In Construction

Gas Firm Backs Up Its Rate Request

CHARLESTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Spokesmen for Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Co. told the Public Service Commission today that the utility's proposed construction program for this year exceeds $2,800,000.

That testimony was provided as the commission began hearing on a C & A petition asking $665,000 more a year in rates charged more than 16,500 customers in north - central and eastern West Virginia.

The Inter - Community League of Central - Eastern West Virginia, represented by Atty. Bonn Brown of Elkins, was a formal protestant in the case.

Asst. Chief Engineer H. R. Weitzel, a Pittsburgh resident, was the first C & A witness after opening remarks by Atty. Vincent Chaney of Charleston.

Weitzel told the PSC the company spent more than $1,550,000 in 1955, $2,149,000 in 1956, and $1,432,000 in 1957 to improve its Maryland - West Virginia plant.

Weitzel was cross - examined under an exchange agreement under which Cumberland & Allegheny sells gas to Manufacturers Light & Heat Co., a sister concern, during the summer and then buys gas back at the same rate during winter months.

That questioning brought out that C & A sells more gas to Manufacturers during the normal year than it later buys back.

Also on the witness stand today was Morton Lewis of New York, assistant treasurer of Columbia Gas System, the parent concern of C & A.

His detailed testimony dealt with how the company computes its rate of return; how C & A finances its construction program, and how the cost of money affects financing procedures.

At the outset of today's hearing, C & A said it lost $69,000 on its West Virginia operation during a 12 - month period ended last July 31. The company's spokesmen said the proposed new rates would offset that deficit and give the company a rate of return of slightly more than 6.75 on its West Virginia investment.

Final Plans Are Made For Lincoln Dinner

Limited Number Of Tickets Available

Final plans for the annual Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by the Republican Party members of Allegany County, which will be held here Tuesday, February 18 at Centre Street Methodist Church, were made last night at a meeting of the Allegany County Republican Committee.

Principal speaker at the dinner will be Howard Pyle, administrative assistant to President Eisenhower and former governor of Arizona.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney and chairman of the Allegany County Republican Committee, said the ticket sale for the dinner is "going well."

A 300-person limit for the dinner has been set, Mr. Getty said, and tickets may be purchased from any member of the GOP committee. Mr. Getty said only a few tickets remain, and committee members should be contacted immediately in order to be assured tickets.

The GOP chairman also said that in addition to the observance of Lincoln Day, the dinner will be a testimonial to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg; Representative DeWitt S. Hyde, Sixth Congressional District, both of whom have filed for re-election to office, and other Republican candidates on the statewide ticket.

Mr. Getty also announced that Representative James P. S. Devereux, Baltimore County, who announced Tuesday that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, also will be a guest at the dinner.

Members of the GOP committee present at last night's meeting at the County Building on Union Street were J. Irvin Martin, Ernest B. Treat, Thomas Elias, Victor M. Hebb, Edgar Lewis and Melvin Sloan.

Petty Thief Steals $8 From School

Johnson Heights School was broken into late Tuesday night or early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Grace Bolyard, manager of the school cafeteria, told authorities that during the night someone entered the building through an unlocked window and apparently used a screwdriver to pry open the door of the cafeteria.

She said $8.96 was missing from the cash box in the cafeteria. The intruder also tried to get into the school office. A drill and a saw blade were used on the door after a screwdriver had been used to pry the stripping from around the door.

James H. Owens, 215 Maryland Avenue, said that during the night someone removed two red fender skirts from his 1955 Mercury while it was parked in front of his home.

PTA Council Urges Action On Library Plan

The Allegany County Council of Parent Teacher Associations at a meeting in West Side School, adopted a resolution urging the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to provide a public library service for the county and to include in the levy a two-cent tax rate on each $100 of assessable property to help pay for the program.

Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, legislative chairman of the County PTA Council and also chairman of the County Library Committee, outlined the plan to create a county library system here, thereby obtaining state and federal funds to help defray the cost. He said a bookmobile could be obtained to serve the entire county, that existing libraries could be improved and enlarged, and their programs expanded.

The PTA urged in the resolution that the library assessment be included in the 1958-59 fiscal year levy.

Dr. Baer noted that the PTA Council had urged favorable action on this program in previous years, but this is the first time the association members indicated they are willing to pay the two-cent tax rate for this service.

Mrs. Benjamin Lewis Jr., first vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Lawrence Shaffer. Mrs. Alice Crowe of Eckhart gave the invocation. William Scott, parliamentarian, led the flag salute.

The program was featured by a panel discussion on school health, with Mrs. Leland Ransom, health chairman, making arrangements. Participants on the panel included public and private health officials and school officials. Refreshments were served by a committee from West Side, including Mrs. John Durst, chairman, Mrs. Calvin Davis, Mrs. William Holbrook and Mrs. Elmore Murrill.

The next council meeting will be held at Oldtown May 5.

Ill Juror Gives Assault Trial Second Delay

Testimony Will Resume Today

The trial of William C. Kneisley Jr., 22-year-old Hagerstown furniture store employe charged with assault with intent to rape a 32-year-old Hagerstown woman in her apartment there last August 7, struck a second snag yesterday afternoon when one of the 12 men serving on the jury became ill.

Just after Kneisley had been called to the witness stand in his own defense, Gerald D. Nelson, one of the jurors, got up from his seat in the jury box, walked behind the bench where Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris was sitting, tapped him on the shoulder to explain that he felt ill.

That was at 3:28 p. m. and Judge Harris then called a brief recess. When Mr. Nelson and the other jurors returned to the box about 3:50 p. m., Judge Harris announced that he would recess the trial until 9:15 a. m. today in hopes that the ill juror will feel better.

Son Became Ill

Just before this unexpected incident, the defendant's parents, Mrs. Eleanor Kneisley and William C. Kneisley Sr., both testified that their son had returned home about 1:45 a. m. August 7, apparently quite drunk, and had been ill.

The first delay yesterday was in the selection of the jury. Only five of the 25 members of the regular panel were named. The other seven jurors were talesmen summoned from the streets. William Marean, one of the talesmen, is serving as foreman. Selected from the regular panel were Harry Shaw, Raymond C. Yutzy, Lonnie I. Jackson, Ivan C. Wilson and William J. Morgan. The other jurors are William Wilson, Mr. Nelson, Irby S. Rutherford, Joseph May, William Allen and Norman C. Weakley. It was 11:45 a. m. before the jury was selected.

Witnesses in yesterday's trial produced a conflict in testimony as to Kneisley's whereabouts in the early morning hours of last August 7. The complaining witness, her eight-year-old daughter and a woman neighbor, Mrs. Jacqueline Lester, all picked Kneisley out of a police lineup the next morning as the man who had climbed through a kitchen window and assaulted the woman.

However, both Mr. and Mrs. Kneisley, parents of the accused, testified that he returned home no later than 1:45 a. m., which was more than an hour before the assault, which was established as having taken place about 3 a. m.

Hagerstown Police Officer William E. Giffin, one of six prosecution witnesses called, testified that while driving a police cruiser in the vicinity of the housing development in which the complaining witness lived, he observed Kneisley about two blocks from the woman's home about 1 a. m. August 7. He said he had known Kneisley about 15 years and observed him under a street light carrying a six-pack of beer.

Question Kneisley

Officer Giffin said that he and Officer Elton R. Hornbaker received a call at 3:14 a. m. August 7 to go to the apartment of the woman, who claimed she had been assaulted a few minutes earlier. After receiving a description of her assailant, the officers decided to question Kneisley. They went to the Kneisley home three times before his mother finally came to the door about 6:15 a. m.

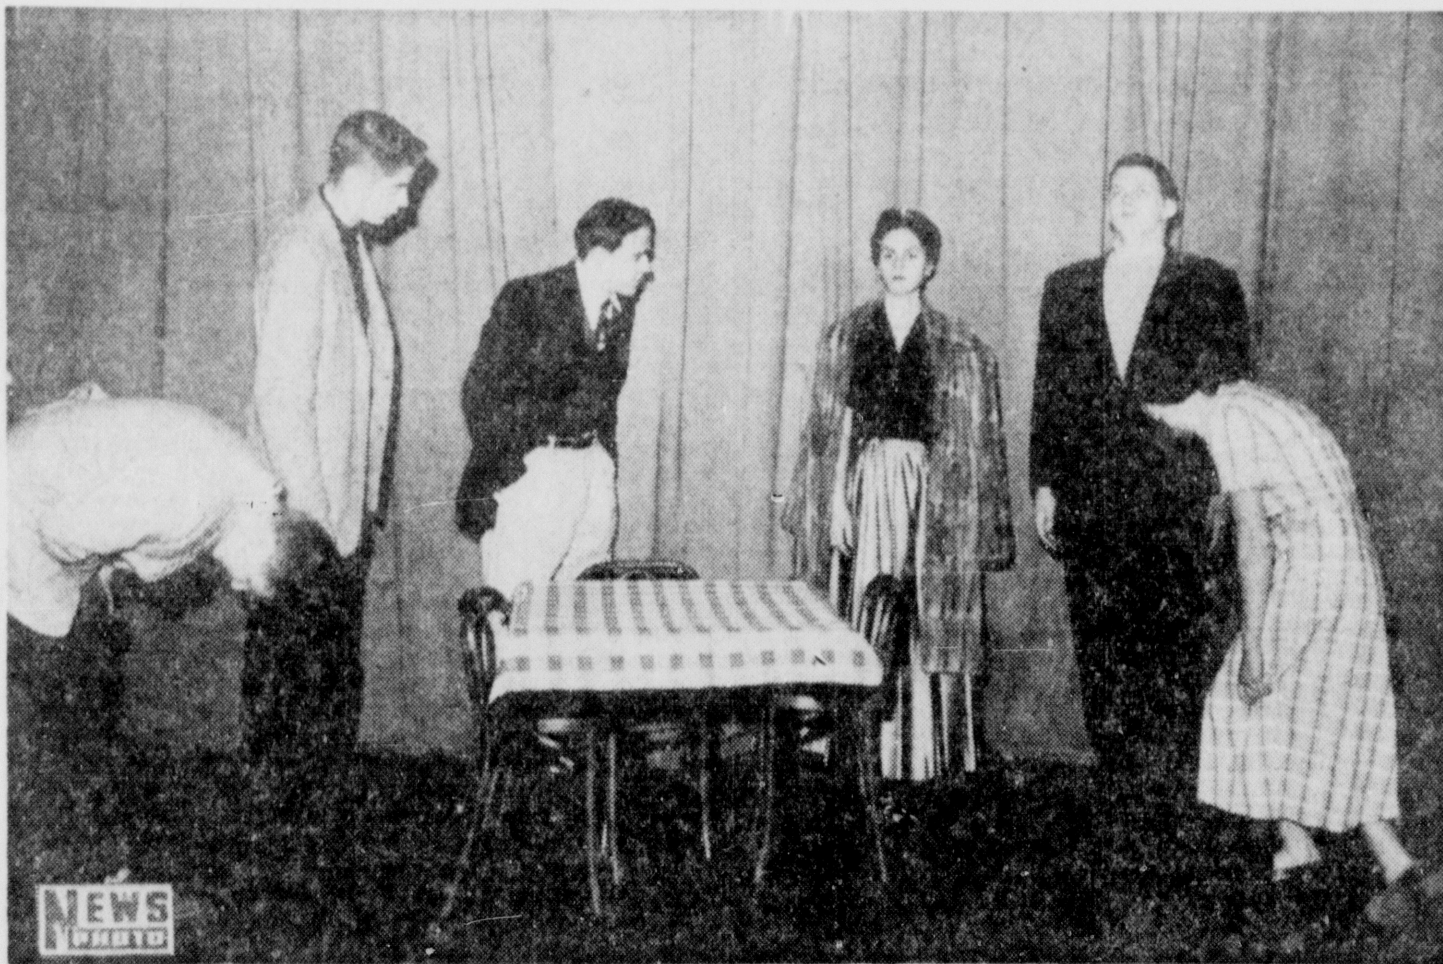

The officers took Kneisley with them to the woman's residence, and she said he was the man who had ripped off her nightgown a few hours earlier. Officer Giffin said. Officer Hornbaker provided corroborative testimony.

Mrs. Lola Griffith, the final state witness, testified that Kneisley and Nelson Kline, a 16-year-old Hagerstown boy, both came to her apartment in the same housing project where the complaining witness lives around 1 a. m. August 7 while she was scrubbing a floor. She said they left by 1:30 a. m.

The defense attorneys called Officer Giffin back to the stand as their first witness. Kline and Kneisley's parents were next on the witness stand. Kneisley himself had taken the stand and had given only the basic facts about his name, age, address and occupation when the ill juror interrupted the trial until this morning.

The Allegany County senator emphasized last night that he voted to override Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's veto of the bill to give teachers a $400 raise in pay each year. The vote was 27-2 in the Senate, with only two Democrats voting to sustain the veto.
